Our programming supports youth knowing—in deep and lasting ways—the interconnectedness of all living beings, and the ways in which we are all whole and all belong.

Art in the Garden & Surviving to Thriving

Art in the Garden, which includes the Surviving to Thriving Program is designed to intentionally address the impacts of early childhood adversity and trauma on health and learning. The social and emotional development of youth contributes to the creation of a healthy, inclusive, and equitable society.
