

Door Décor Materials List

Branches of a variety of evergreens. May be sourced from your yard, from a garden center near you (usually places that sell Christmas Trees have bundles of branches for sale). If you're a member, Sam's Club offers bundles of greens (although they are probably not evergreens) delivered directly to you. Costco may also, but I'm not a member there. Trader Joe's may sell bunches of mixed greens. If you're planning to do a door swag, one bunch is enough. If you plan on making your own wreath or garland, you'd better get much more!

Hard Goods: Usually available from JoAnn's, Michaels or Amazon
24-26 gauge paddle wire (wire wrapped around a spool or plastic core of some sort).
Bind Wire can be used instead of paddle wire.

Optional: For a wreath, you can purchase a frame to build on (available at Walmart, Dollar Store, online), or use a heavy hoop of some sort (a heavy coat hanger can be shaped to serve the purpose). For garland, you'll need a heavy piece of rope.

Decorations:

1.5" to 3" ribbon of your choice. We'll learn how to make a bow for your creation.

Assorted silk flowers/berries/balls/stars, etc. Walmart or dollar stores have a fairly inexpensive selection that will look fine. You can also splurge at JoAnn or Michaels.
