Reading to Young Children

TIPS TO MAKE READING FUN:

• If your child tends to squirm, try replacing text with your own words and point to the objects on the page as they are described.

• Use a new voice for each character and make the sounds of any animals pictured.

• Move your fingers across the page to show that movement is taking place.

• Each time you read a book, talk about the same thing using the same words. Children love repetition and enjoy it when you say something that they expect you to say.

• Encourage your child to participate in the story by pointing at objects, repeating words or adding sound effects.

• Talk about the pictures and don’t stay on a page too long. Don’t expect to finish!

• Start with bright, simple picture books. Kids often need to be taught to appreciate more beautiful, artistic books. Introduce these among your child’s go-to favorites.

• When your child is about 12 – 18 months old, teach him or her to turn pages.

• If your child requires you to zip through the pages to stay interested, don’t bother with the plot and focus on the images.

• If the story includes a particular event, emotion or concept that you would rather not present, make up your own version or just talk about the pictures instead.

Reading to your child for 20 minutes a day will deepen bonds while promoting brain development.
